

British Polymer Clay Guild Membership Application Form

The British Polymer Clay Guild is open to all who are interested in polymer clay (Fimo, Premo, Cernit, Sculpey, Kato clay etc.) from beginners to professionals, in the form of craft, art, modelling, jewellery, beads, doll-making, miniatures and all the many other applications of this extraordinary material.

Members gain access to a restricted area of the BPCG website at www.bpcg.org.uk. This contains information on the various clays, book reviews, projects and new ideas, tools and gadgets, new techniques, project downloads and much more. Members can also access our forum where they can connect with other member to share hints and tips, show their latest creations or ask for advice. Regional groups meet regularly offering a chance to catch up with other clayers.

Members are given advance notice of any workshops, regional group meetings, seminars and exhibitions that the Guild arranges, via the website and occasional emails. We also organise displays of members' work at a variety of national shows, and help to promote individual members' polymer clay-related businesses. In addition to the above, members are usually offered a discount rate for BPCG-run workshops.

To keep running costs to a minimum, most Guild information is shared via the website and individual email messages. In exceptional circumstances it is possible for us to post information to you, but please contact the Membership Secretary to discuss this before joining.

Membership costs £16.00 a year. Please make cheques payable to British Polymer Clay Guild.
