

Report of May Miniaturists Workshop

Above are some of the completed ribs of beef completed during a long and busy workshop on Sunday 8th May 2011

Eight miniaturists took part in this workshop given by Pat. Most of us did not leave until gone 6 o'clock but, except for the final baking, all completed the set task as the above photos will testify. This project was extremely complex in its construction but Pat guided all through the various stages.

A great deal of humour was generated when Pat gave out some 'old' clay which had to be placed somewhere warm, everybody checking various parts of their body to find a warm spot. Then when that colour was called for in the clay mix more humour as some had forgotten about the 'hidden' clay.

Many thanks to Pat for an excellent workshop which everyone enjoyed.

Our next workshop is Sunday July 10th when we will be doing a curled up cat with Bonnie.
